THE SURRENDER OF THE LITTLE ROCK U. S. ARSENAL. Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo.,

April 8, 1861.

Seeing in many papers to what extent our army is loyal and true to the country, and especially, by reading an account in the St. Louis Democrat, how a certain company of the Unit ted States army behaved at the surrender of the ted States army behaved at the surrender of the United States arsenal at Little Rock, Arkansas, it would not be out of place to inform the public how shamefully the United States property was given up to the seceders, and especially in a State which has been almost unanimous for the Union. Capt. Totten, U. S. A., was directed by the War Department to take command of the aforesaid arsenal, shortly before the secession movement commenced. On or about the 1st of February, 1861, rumor reached the garrison that the secessionists would or about the 1st of February, 1861, rumor reached the garrison that the secessionists would attempt to take the United States property, but the men of the command laughed at the idea. In about six days afterward, a crowd of country militia, mostly unarmed, assembled in the vicinity of the city of Little Rock, and, on the next day, a mob collected ar und the Governor's house to the number of about 300 men, and demanded that he should deliver the United States arms and ammunition to them. The ted States arms and ammunition to them. The Governor applied to the Captain commanding the arsenal, that he would not be responsible if an attack was made. Capt. T. could not suran attack was made. Capt. T. could not surrender the property without showing some resistance; and accordingly, the day before he expected the sham attack, he ordered six guns to be mounted in the lower story of the arsenal, and two in the upper, and about 300 muskets to be loaded. The arsenal was fortified strong enough to resist the attack of 1,000 men of the regular army for a good many weeks, and, if captain T. had shown the slightest resistance, the mob would never have thought of attacking him.

The command of Capt. T. consisted of 90 men, with plenty of ammunition and provisions, while a good many of the militia did not have more than one round of ammunition.

And I never saw a company of men more willing to drag the guns and fortify the place than in that instance; but, at the same time, they feared that their toil would be for nothing, and that the secessionists would get the United States property without firing a shot. Many respectable citizens had an interview with the captain commanding, and said that it would be captain commanding, and said that it would be a shame to give up the arsenal to a mob col-lected by secessionists. On the next day the

the mob would never have thought of whole areenal was surrendered to the Governor.

But the best part of the farce happened a few days afterward, about seven miles out of the city of Little Rock, where the company was camping, awaiting for the boat to take them out of the State. Early in the morning the United States troops were ordered to hold themselves in readiness, in full uniform, to receive the triumphal car conveying our brace commander, accompanied by the equally brave Arkansians. The car was ornamented with evergreen and flower garlands, bearing a motto,

"We know him but to love him."

It was escorted by two com; anies of Arkansas militia and a military band. After the arrival of the procession in the camp, the seceders Val of the procession in the camp, the second delivered several speeches, asserting that Capt. T., being a Southern man, had done his duty by giving over the United States property to the secessionists, together with a good many more such complimentary remarks. The Unimore such compilmentary remarks. The Onted States company was perfectly disgusted with the whole performance, but it was not in their power to show it. This is the true account of the surrender of that arsenal, and I am not the least in doubt that, if the officer in command of it had half done his duty, the United States property there would be in the hands of the Federal troops at the present time.

THE PLOT TO ASSASSINATE MR. LIN-

THE PLOT TO ASSASSING.

COLN.

The Albany Evening Journal of Wednesday gives a complete history of the conspiracy to assinate the President during his journey from the Journal states.

The Journal states are to Washington. The Journal states are to Washington. Harrisburg to Washington. The Journal states that some of Mr. Lincoln's friends heard of the existence of a plot of this nature, and imme-diately employed a detective to investigate the matter. The officer went to Baltimore and occupied a period of three weeks in tracing the conspiracy.
"Soon after his arrival in that city, (says the Journal,) the detective discovered a combina tion of men banded together under solemn oath to assassinate the President elect. The leader of the conspirators was an Italian refugee, a barber, well known in Balimore, who assumed the name of Orsini, as indicative of the part he was to perform. The assistants employed by the detective, who, like himself, were stranger in Baltimore city, by assuming to be secession-ists from Louisians and other seceding States, gained the confidence of some of the conspira-tors, and were intrusted with their plans. It was arranged, in case Mr. Lincoln should pass safely over the railroad to Baltimore, that the conspirators should mingle with the crowd which might surround his carriage, and, by prebe his friends, be enabled to ap proach his person, when, upon a signal from their leader, some of them would shoot at Mr. their leader, some of their would shoot at art. Lincoln with their pistols, and others would throw into his carriage hand grenades filled with detonating powder, similar to those used in the attempted assassination of the Emperer, Louis Napoleon. It was intended that in the confusion which should result from this attack, the assailants should escape to a vessel which was waiting in the harbor to receive them, and be carried to Mobile, in the secoding State of

A GENTLEMAN BORN AND BRED .- The Mo bile Advertiser is poking fun at President Lin-coln because he was not, like President Jeff. coln because he was not, like President Jeff.
Davis, "a gentleman born and bred." "Are not the distinguishing characteristics, which prove us two people, well represented in these two men?" asks our Mobile cotemporary, with a scornful curve of his chiselled lip. To which every man with the instincts of a gentleman will cry, "that's so." with a hearty good will.
We are all born without shirts in the free States, and exteem it anything but a disgrace to care and esteem it anything but a disgrace to earn one when we get old enough. The difference between the traitor Jeff. Davis and Abraham Lincoln is, that Davis was born a gentleman educated like a public pauper at the national expense at West Point, and, after having eaten the bread which he never earned, he deserted and behayed the country which had educated, clothed, and fed him, and which he took a sol-emn oath to be loyal and true to, while Lincoln earned his own bread and clothing, educated himself, and has remained true and loyal to the country which had done nothing for him. That is the difference between the President of the United States and of the Confederate

The secessionists have been signally defeated at Frankfort in all their projects. Will they submit to the defeat? Are they, can they be such poor, mean-spirited submissionists as to do that?—Louisville Journal.

FOREIGN NEWS AND GOSSIP. PROPOSED EXPLORING EXPEDITION TO CHINA.

An expedition, partly scientific, partly sporting, is about to strike through a nearly unknown country in Central Asia, making, in fact, an overland journey from Shanghai to Simla, in the Himsiayas. It is composed of two or three military and civil scientific celebrities. One of the party has already gained renown in Northern America, and is a naturalis: in the fullest sense of the term, as well as a clever ornitholo-gist. Another enjoys a well-deserved fame as a daring sportsman, who has already penetrated into Western Thibet, through the Himalayas.

BUINS OF THE TOWER OF BABEL.-The French Consul at Mosul recently sent home an account of a discovery so astounding as to render the photographic views and vouchers that accompanied it necessary as confirmations of its truth. The discovery was that of the ruins of the Tower of Babel, and the photographs exhibited the remaining two stories of this once marvellous structure; the bricks cemented with bitumen, and bearing inscriptions upon them, which, when deciphered, are expected to confirm the accounts of Scripture.

PORTRAIT OF SHARSPEARE.—No little interest has just been excited in the artistic world by the discovery, at Stratford upon Avon, of a portrait of Shakspeare, from which the dramatist's well-known bust was taken. Mr. Collins, an artist employed to restore a picture in the poet's birthplace, discovered that what appeared to be the likeness of a man bearded like a "pard" proved, on close inspection, and as the work developed, to be the portrait of the great genius of the dramatic world.

LUNATIC IN THE TUILERIES .- Visits of luna tics to the Tuileries do not cease. Recently, a female, decently dressed, presented herself at the guichet de l'echelle of the Palace, and, representing that her mind was affected, begged to be introduced to the Empress, who, she said, could cure her by touching her on the head, just as the old sovereigns of France used to heal certain maladies by the touch. The poor creature was conveyed to the Prefecture of Police, and is to be sent to an asylum.

THE FRENCH EMPRESS .- The report of the Empress of the French taking a pilgrimage to Jerusalem, in order to accomplish a vow made after her sister's death, has been for some weeks forgotten. It is, however, revived, and going the rounds of the salons, with this addition, that she will leave for Palestine in the beginning of next May, and stay there until the middle of The Emperor of the French is still desirous of finding a splendid saddle-horse for the Empress, and still looks in vain for the perfection which will suit him. The price is a generous one; he offers £1,000; and it is odd that no one can produce the animal.

It is stated that Mrs. Gurney, the lady who has lately been divorced from her husband, has purchased Harptree Court, Somersetshire, the seat of Lord Waldegrave, which she intends for her future residence.

Miss Florence Nightingala has forwarded to Captain Jervis, Commandant of the Military Hospital at Great Yarmouth, £20, in aid of a which is being raised to provide an harmonium for the chapel.

In. Russia the censorship of the press is to be abolished. It is expected that foreign newspa-pers will be delivered without the obliferation of those portions of them which might be dis-pleasing to the Government. The agents of the Great Eastern steamship

DR. SCHENCK, the Lung Doctor.—The Proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, the inventor of SCHENCK'S RESPIROMETER, the only instrument that can to a certainty detect the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs.

This is of great importance to Dr. SCHENCK, to know the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial, Pleuritic, or Dyspeptic Consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased.

It requires constant and long practice to be-come familiar with every sound or rattling of a diseased bronchial tube. Patients come to Dr. SCHENCK to get examined that have been examined by their family physician, who told them that their lungs were almost gone; when, by a close examination with the Respirometer, it is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube, and, by getting a healthy action of the liver and tone to the stomach, the sufferer is soon restored to health. Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough is certain death to the pa-tient. It locks up the liver, stops the irculation of the blood; hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, stopping the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaints and Dyspansia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Per-sons are at this time complaining with dull pain in the side, bowels sometimes costive and sometimes too loose, tongue coated, pain in the shoul der blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and at other times drowsy; everything that is eaten lies heavy on the stomach; actility, belching up wind. Hundreds are complaining at this time in this way. Let them take a heavy cold, and, before they get rid of it, then another, then is the time to know what to do, then is the time to go to Dr. SCHENCK and get your lungs exam-ined, then is the time to know what cough med icine to take. Stop that cough sudden, and then the lungs, liver, and stomach, are all put into an inactive state, and, before the patient is aware of his situation, the lungs are a mass of sores, and death must soon follow pectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough sud-denly, but, when assisted by the SEAWEED TONIC, to improve the tone of the stomach, and restore a healthy action of the digestive organs, with the MANDRAKE PILLS, to bring about a with the MANDRAKE PILLS, to bring about a healthy action of the liver. When these are ta-ken together, or as indicated, they are sure to bring the constitution back to a healthy state when affected by any of the above diseases. Dr. SCHENCK believes that too much cannot be said DRAKE PILLS. Their action is peculiar, but certain, in all cases of torpid bowels or diseased liver, which is too frequently the primary cause of a broken-down condition of the whole system, and often passes under the name of CONSUMP-TION, when that disease does not exist at all, or TION, when that disease does not exist at all, or if it does, is readily curable by a proper atten-tion to restoring a healthy action of the stomach, liver, and other functions, whose duty it is to eliminate and carry off the unbealthy deposits which clog and render sluggish the wheels of the animal organism.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup will prolong life sometimes several months, by keeping the bronchial tubes free from the putrid matter which impedes their functions, when the lungs are too far gone to cure There is no medicine that can cure Consumption when both lungs are much diseased, and Dr. Schenck would rather every one would know their true condition before taking his medicine.

He treats no diseases but those of the Lungs, Liver, and Stomach, and makes no charges for advice, or examining lungs in the ordinary way, or as physicians generally do; but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer be charges three dollars, and wishes every one, rich or poor, that has a Cough, Pain in the Side or Sboulder-blade, troubled with Costiveness or Diarrhoza, Sallow Complexion, Loss of Appetite, Low Spirits, Restlessness at Night, or any other disease leading to Consumption, to call on him as above and get his advice. Often, a twenty-five cent box of SCHENCK'S

MANDRAKE PILLS will remove the cause of this great terror of the country-Consumption. All of Dr. SCHENCK'S medicines are prepared under his own supervision, and sold, wholesale and retail, at his principal office in Philadelphia, No. 39 north Sixth street.
